

New from Sonocent for the 2017/18 academic year

v5

- ✓ Groundbreaking note-taking tools.
- ✓ Simplified online administration.
- ✓ Comprehensive training support.

“The site-wide licence cost for Sonocent has made great financial sense for the university; but for me it’s more about students having control over their own notes... it’s vital they have that autonomy.”

Karen Hocking, Disability Services Manager
University of Plymouth

So, what's new from Sonocent for 2017/18?

Text-audio linking

Now your students can click on their text notes and hear exactly what was said when they wrote them.

This unique feature makes it easy to link questions, thoughts and summaries to academic instruction. And this will be invaluable when your students come to revise and compose written work.

Access to our premium app

Students with Loan Licences or on campuses with Sonocent Site Licences can now enjoy access to our premium mobile app, Sonocent Link.

Premium app features include unlimited playback and the ability to annotate audio on playback. Now your students can revisit their recordings and add meaningful detail when they are on the go.

Scribble hand drawn notations

Using our mobile companion app, your students can now handwrite symbols, equations and diagrams directly alongside their audio and text notes. This exciting new feature is a game changer for kinaesthetic learners and students on STEM courses.

Simplified administration

Invite your students to try Sonocent with a click from the online Loan Licence Manager.

The invite triggers a sequence of automated emails that walk your students through installing the software on their computer and mobile device. Allocating note-taking support has never been so simple and hassle-free.

In-software training

Our new Sonocent Skills Portal gives users direct access to a series of fun and engaging interactive training videos.

The Portal is designed to get students up and running with core software features, saving your team significant time on training and support.

91% of administrators using Sonocent agreed or strongly agreed it simplifies note-taking administration.*

Discover how Sonocent helps students of all abilities and learning styles to take better notes.
